INTRODUCTION

Titled Art, the united language, the eight day event which had been started from December 15th, saw thirty selected Iranian living in Malaysia from different background, cities, social level, gender and age as well as different religious believe and political point of view, come together and use different forms of art to depict the multifaceted nature and meanings of true peace. Themes included "inner peace", "peace with the environment" and "peace with and among women and children". Participants divided into different groups including a "photography group", "environmental art group", a "music group" and a "painting group" burned the midnight oil to finalise their artwork. Different speakers from the community and civil society addressed participants at different times to discuss various aspects of peace, including finding ways to transcend and mediate conflict. There were three member judging panel that deliberated on which group would receive a small prize, based on both the level of cooperation within the group and how well the finished artwork explained the message and concept of peace. RLC Director Anwar Fazal inaugurated the three day art exhibition on December 20th, delivered a speech and also gave prizes and certificates to the participants. The event time was from 5pm to 9pm.

OBJECTIVES

The main Objective of this workshop was using Art as an instrument to make people who are from different backgrounds who are somehow isolated toward each other to work together and be united in order to have peace within them. Besides that one of the workshop's mission was making more people to think of peace in diversity aspects and let each of them to be a peace seeker among their own family and community as little people do little things and in big scale lots of thing would be change for good in the world.

DETAILED REPORT

First Day 15.Dec.2011

After welcoming words had been given By Natasha Shokri, the program manager, one letter from a Nigerian street kid letter had been read to participants to make them understand that they are not blank hearted therefore they need to fulfill their hearts with love and peace. Then as Ice breaking everyone introduced himself and their purpose of being in the workshop. VIP of the day had elaborated their speeches on Art and peace as well as artist and inner peace. Participants served two tea break sessions. At the end of the day, participants have been divided to the group of their interest and the fixed budget amount had been given to each group for facilitating their need for their artwork.

Second Day 16.Dec.2011

On the second day, the Theme of children had been chosen for the group of photography and painting. After welcoming session our VIP s of the day had given the participants speech on children issues and how by innovative methods peace can be developed. Then photography, environmental art and music group showed their work to everyone and all the participants discussed about the different aspects of peace in the photos and music. Then painting group started their painting.

Third Day 17.Dec.2011

On the third day morning, participants went to two places first was Penang Handicapped welfare association the place in which mentally disordered children whom their family could not take care of them anymore were kept. And the other place was ST Nickolas House where blind people were taken care. Some photos had been shot over there. At the evening of the day in the workshop Yoga session which was more about how participants can connect to their inner peace by using grounding as well as crystal usage with special natural fragrant oils. After Yoga had been done and more peaceful mind had been created for participants, painting group had started their work. As much as they were inspired by the workshop environment they had worked together until 1 am and they loved to work and complete it and by the way the theme of the day was environment.

Forth day 18.Dec.2011

After welcoming was done participants asked to do one moral game on the topic of how do you think? And then participants have been asked that do they think conflict can be transform to peace by art? Those who do agree and those who didn't agree and undecided ones, start debating. After that the VIP of the day had given speech on women theme, Then again groups have been presented their works photography group as well as environmental art had done their work, music group done their performance and painting group started to paint again until 1am. The theme of that day was women but painting group has worked on 3 painting instead of one as they had plenty of ideas which they were really delighted to work on their ideas.

Fifth Day 19.Dec.2011

In the morning of the 5th day we all went to Batu Fringi beach the place that our environmental group were worked on the big stones and as other groups couldn't see main scale of it which was so big in the exhibition, all the groups went to beach to see the environmental group effort. And a traditional Iranian breakfast had been served over there, the photography group snapshot some photos about environment over there and participants also played and had lots of fun at the beach and more relationships had been built over there. In the evening of that day one PowerPoint on peace had been shown to them and they had been asked to explain about their experience which they had gained during the workshop. Music group announced that because of the safety of other groups they won't perform their song in public since it was harshly political, but they said that they will be there until last minute and they did. That night was ended by last singing of music group in the workshop and painting and photography groups handed in their arts. All the groups prepared themselves for the exhibition of the day after and worked really hard until 3 am which was adorable.

First day of exhibition

20.Dec.2011

Before Opening ceremony of Exhibition, at 2 pm workshop's judge panel came and observed the quality and quantity of the groups work and also had talked to them base on both the level of cooperation within the group and how well they finished artwork explained the message and concept of peace. The Music group had a private show for the judges as because of some political issue the music group couldn't perform for all the visitors. Then at the opening ceremony which had been hold at 6pm Dato. Prof. Anwar Fazel Director of RLC (Right Livelihood College) viewed participants' artworks and also participants explained him the meaning of each artwork. He enjoyed the artwork a lot, and then he gave speech to audience whom were invited in the opening day. After his speech finished the winner group had been announce which was painting group as they had the best cooperation in the team, diversity and meaning related to peace, and then certificates had been given to 20 of participant who had completed the workshop. At the end of the program the group members asked for talk to everyone and they had thanked the program manager Natasha Shokri for her efforts on running this program and explained to audience that how this workshop affected them positively and makes their view deeper to the meaning of peace.

Second and Third Day of exhibition

At the second and third day of exhibition the venue had been open from 5 pm to 9 pm for all those who are art and peace lover. Around 100 visitors this exhibition got during the three days of its exhibition, visitors were from different continent such as African, European, Asian, American and also Australia. Besides that the visitors were from different ages. The Majority of the visitors were from Malaysia and mostly USM student. All the participants had been explained the meaning of each art work to the audience.

Workshop outcomes

Three main issues are workshop outcomes:

- After visiting different centres for disables and mental handicapped people, our group decided to visit them on monthly basis and also collect donate for them since they believed that these people should not been abounded from the society and as we cannot take them to society in short term we will bring society to them by forming a group of interested people for going to these centres and communicating with them, sharing our though and love with them.
- 2. Our group become together as close friends despite they are all from different religious, culture and political view. They could understand each other in a better way. They have become familiar with different meanings of peace.
- 3. In Iran Traditional Music Fans and Rap fans are in conflict since both neglect each others as musician. In this workshop those who are traditional musicians and those who are rappers came together and composed a song and they both believed each other's ideas and lots of change happened in their view toward each other.
