

Ms. Marijoe J. Serrano (Philippines)

(Email: marjserrano27@hotmail.com)

I was born in Quezon City, Philippines on the night of August 27, 1994. I am the current President of SPUQC's Mass Communication Society and the Associate Editor of The Paulinian (The Official Campus Publication of SPUQC).

As a child, I started writing anecdotes and short stories as a hobby. But then years later I realized that this simple hobby ignited my inner desire to become a writer. Having this dream of becoming a writer or a good communicator who can change the world with my own skills, I decided to take up AB Mass Communication as a College Degree at St. Paul University Quezon City. Believing that a single idea can be powerful as a tool to make a difference, I, together with my colleagues created amateur films or some documentaries concerning issues in our society but we won't stop honing our skills in order to promote positivity through the use of the mass media changing some negative perspectives we get from it.
