

Ms. Raeesha Shrestha, (Nepal)

I am Raeesha Shrestha and Nepal is where I am from. I was brought up in a simple Newari family (a sub culture in Nepal). I am passionate about life. I like the fact that I don't stop myself from being curious and that never stops me from learning. I believe in "live and let live."

I love writing, photography and meeting new people. I am a good public speaker and love communicating and exchanging ideas. I believe this helps us understand and live different stories. I love being with kids, they inspire me to be open, to love colours and imagine. They encourage me to enjoy colours not to judge them.

I have worked as a leader in several organisations but that is not all that makes me. I am ordinary but I have extraordinary dreams of making life better for people around.
